

Britain Wake Up

J. B. Priestley in The Reader's Digest

England is in grave danger. Threatened from outside, we are perhaps even more dangerously threatened from within by our own weaknesses. It is true that we have inherited a wonderful tradition, of freedom, of empire, of literature and the arts, but it is simply not enough for us to go on and on congratulating ourselves upon what our great-grandfathers struggled mightily to achieve. We cannot be mere inheritors. We ourselves must be energetic and creative or we shall decay and rot.

Britain is frequently regarded abroad as a rich but tired old man. And it is true that at present we have a rich-tired-old-man government. Probably our commonest error in speech is our description of this country as a "democracy". It is nothing of the kind. What it really is nobody quite knows; it might be described as a plutocracy disguised as an aristocracy.

All our real government is done by the Right People. In every position of authority—in the Civil Service, Finance, the Church, the fighting services—the effort is to find "men with the right background". Out of the sciences, a clever lad who has not "the right background" does not stand much of a chance. And I suggest that if you are ruled by a private-income, dividend-drawing class, the members of that class will see things in terms of their own interests—rather than in terms of the general happiness of the English people.

In many departments of our national life we have lost the virtues of an aristocratic system and we have not arrived at the virtues of a democratic one. To take a tiny but typical example, one of hundreds: You will see advertisements by titled ladies offering for a handsome recompense to introduce young women to the London Season. In a true aristocracy a lady of title would not offer her social privileges for sale. In a true democracy these privileges would not be worth buying.

From the moment it was known that Honors could be bought, such Honors should have been laughed out of existence. There is not the slightest reason why rich men should be allowed to disguise themselves as feudal barons. This is a real country, where men and women have to live their lives, and not a fancy dress ball. We are unembarrassed day in and day out by this medieval masquerade—by the tradition of a feudal aristocracy and landed gentry. Because of it, half our time we cannot behave like grown-up persons. Our periodicals are filled with nonsense about rich idlers. The country house routine is regarded as the great goal, life at its fullest.

Our urban life seems dreary and rather barbarous because nobody capable of making money settles down to be a citizen. We consider the American millionaires crude industrial brigands. But at least some of them have given their native towns all manner of things, from institutes of scientific research to symphony orchestras. Such benefits are not unknown here, but I will wager that 50 times as much has been spent here on imitating the habits of the landed aristocracy.

This snobbery, running through our national life, is one of the greatest recruiting forces for intolerant and ungenerous Tories. As soon as anybody is really successful he is taken up and smiled upon by the Right People. And after that, three times out of four, though he may have come from the common people, and owe his success to their affection, he is lost to them. Thus we see how a romantic like Ramsay MacDonald was successfully beguiled.

When we can sweep away all this snobbery and sham, as a nation we shall be immediately more honest, more intelligent and more vigorous. Whenever I move about in England I am still surprised to find how many people live on private incomes or on pensions. Now nearly all of them are pleasant human beings. But their presence in such large numbers is not a good thing. They tend to lead a bored, uncreative sort of existence. They are chiefly motivated by the fear of losing their regular money.

Thus they are naturally opposed to any experiment; to the nation taking any risk, to the faintest threat to their security. They tend to form a solid bulk of shortsighted, timid, deeply conservative opinion. I believe that most of them would be ten times happier if they were compelled to work again, really to save England, for which they have a genuine love.

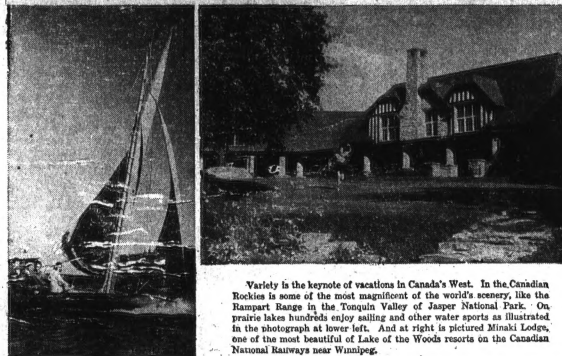

At the other end of the scale is that terrible army of the real unemployed. The continued existence of these unhappy men is perhaps the darkest blot on modern English history. To give a man just enough to exist on, as our dole system does, with no prospects of work and real wages, year in and year out, is to take the manhood out of him.

The American system of relief work, cost what it may, is far better. Even Hitler can show us something better, and while we have these gray ghosts of men in these dark, silent towns, we are in this one respect beneath the level of the dictatorships.

For our lethargic state of being more inheritors and not creators, we must, in large measure, blame the middle classes. It is from them that the great impulse to make this a better country must come. In five years they could remake Britain.

But, at the moment, they show precious few signs of doing it—simply because no lasting vision of a nobler England haunts them. Such is their present style of life that no vision of any kind haunts them. Most of them are living too exclusively near the surface of things; leading a car-and-wireless life—a life without fullness and depth. Strong and generous impulses, moving us to us and work for the common good, arise only in

West Has Everything for Summer Vacations

Variety is the keynote of vacations in Canada's West. In the Canadian Rockies is some of the most magnificent of the world's scenery, like the Rampart Range in the Tonquin Valley of Jasper National Park. On prairie lakes hundreds enjoy sailing and other water sports as illustrated in the photograph at lower left. And at right is pictured Mink Lake, one of the most beautiful of Lake of the Woods resorts on the Canadian National Railways near Winnipeg.

natures that are themselves strong and generous.

Democracy seems to me to rest upon two propositions. That though men are very different in natural ability, they are alike in the fact that they are equally important to themselves, and are therefore likely to be equally affected by good or bad government.

Secondly, that natural ability may turn up anywhere, so that you should give men the same chance to show what they are made of. Real democracy always releases a flood of previously dammed-up talent. But we in England are suffering from an absence of democracy.

Get rid of this rich-tired-old-man atmosphere. Britain should start worrying about its people—not the Right People, but all of them—and let everybody walk clean out of this Thackeray novel of snobbery so many English still live in.

At heart the English are good people. They have an immense store of political virtue—a willingness to cooperate, a sense of fairness, a natural dislike of intolerance—and it is because not enough use is being made of this immense store, one of the few un plundered treasures left, that I have made this plea. Very sincerely I believe that the world will be a better place if the English are wide awake and not merely mumbling and grumbling in their sleep.

SCHOOL DAYS HERE AGAIN

Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Next Tuesday the good old school bells will again be peeling forth their welcome to all the young folk of our town. But taking pupils, students, teachers and parents as a whole, each and all will be glad to see school re-open.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is also true of the reverse manner of living, as all play or leisure hours tend to become monotonous over an extended vacation.

The question facing many pupils and students is the vacation to follow, the one to which the individual is most adapted and the one at which he or she is most likely to find the road to success.

As an incentive, and to assist those so inclined, a new course will be taught in the public school this coming term—general shop; and another teacher has been added to the staff to take charge of this. We take great pleasure in welcoming Mr. Sparling of Calgary into our midst for this position.

The former teachers of both high and public schools have been re-engaged for the coming school year.

Winnipeg lies in the middle of the North American Continent; midway between the Arctic and the Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Four great railways converge upon her, as did the historic roads leading to Rome. Her immense railway yards cover miles of tracks and sheds. Manitoba has been always before the eyes of the world—first as a romantic frontier, then as the possessor of fabulous wealth, then as the home of an industrious population that wrested from the soil, the lakes, the forests, and the mines, an immense annual income. In 1936 she produced $234,000,000 in her varied activities; agriculture, mining, forestry, trapping, fisheries (don't forget her Lake Winnipeg that measures 8,500 square miles), exporting a million and a half tons of these various commodities, which include pulpwood, dressed beef, and newsprint, to home and foreign markets. An amazing record! She has 80,000 registrations for motor vehicles and machines of all kinds, and 35,000 miles of highways and roads, of which she is surfacing additional miles every year. Tourists in motor cars and by train are coming in increasing numbers to see for themselves this great country. Visit her yards. See wheat, all other grains, cattle (alive and as dressed beef), pulpwood, newsprint—many other products for which hungry mouths of men and machinery wait in the industrialized East. See the tons of British Columbia fruits and salmon being unloaded for Manitoba's own consumption. Thus, the sale of Manitoba's products allows her to purchase those of sister provinces. BUILDING CANADIAN MOTOR CARS is a National Enterprise

Today there are approximately 1,500,000 cars and trucks in Canada. Beyond these are cars and trucks in the United States, Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. While these vast fleets of vehicles are being built in the United States, Canada and the West Indies, the actual work of building them has brought markets and prosperity to people in every Province. It has stimulated the production of new materials throughout the Dominion and created a stable source of income for the farmer and the fisherman. When you buy a Canadian-built car, you help your own Province.

CORRALLED COWS IN CALIFORNIA

"Three acres and a cow" used to be the socialistic slogan which proclaimed this as the property rights and means of sustenance for every family. But three acres and 75 cows sounds even more fantastic, yet it represents the equipment of many a dairyman in Southern California, says B. Leale Ennis, chemist-agronomist, a recent visitor to that State.
On the outskirts of Los Angeles may be seen "streets" of dairy farms, the cows in corrals, on one side of which is a row of managers and nearby the feed in bales of hay piled high. The hay, consisting individually of barley, oats and alfalfa, is purchased by the dairyman from the farmer who grows it.
Steers, too, are fattened in similar enclosures and are fed delectated cottonseed meal as a concentrated supplement. The value of the manure produced from these animals is recognized, and one sees signs displayed, offering for sale Sifted Steer Fertilizer from animals fed on concrete floors. As no bedding material is used, the manure is advertised as being free from weed seeds.
Other signs, placed at intervals along the dairy streets, announce Pure Ground Cow Fertilizer—Six Bags for $1.00. This is considered a bargain price for the concentrated, strawless bovine offal. At least, the feeders and growers of Southern California are conscious that domestic manure has a value, meriting its designation as fertilizer and worth putting in bags.

WINTER WHEAT PRODUCTION

There is a need for a hardy variety of winter wheat for use in grey good soil areas and in the foothills of the province of Alberta. In these areas, spring is frequently tardy, and the soil warms up too late to make it possible to seed spring wheat in good season, so that it will ripen before being damaged by early fall frosts. The introduction of a suitable variety of winter wheat in these areas would thus alleviate a need for a fall seeded crop and eliminate the necessity for early spring tillage in an area where soil and climate conditions frequently make it impossible to work the land early in the spring.
There is the possibility that the production of winter wheat will be less risky in these areas than in the open prairie areas for the reason that the snow usually comes in late October or early November and provides a continuous protective covering throughout the winter, and winter wheat is therefore subjected to less variation in winter temperatures than is the case where there is a thin covering of snow, or where the snow is removed by Chinook winds during the winter months.

The production of spring wheat in the grey wooded soil areas for the reason that these areas produce a spring wheat that has a lower protein content and lower baking strength than similar varieties produced in the open prairie areas. It therefore seems reasonable to assume that the farmers operating in the grey wooded soil areas might be well advised to produce coarse grains and high yielding varieties of winter wheat which can be used to advantage for feed, or sold if the prices warranted marketing it as a cash crop.

Tests conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, states G. E. DeLong, indicate that Kharkov is one of the best varieties to grow in Central Alberta. It is reasonably hardy and produces a threshed grain of fair quality. Experience teaches that winter wheat will do best if it goes into the winter with a fair amount of top. It usually develops the right amount of growth if it is seeded between August 15 and September 1.

Areas in fields of winter wheat which have been winter-killed can be thickened up by spring seed of early maturing varieties such as Garnet or Rexard, which ripen nearly as early as winter wheat. This practice helps control weeds. However, when marketing this mixed crop one can only expect to get mixed grades.

As I am writing this column, the Prime Minister of Great Britain warns that we are rapidly approaching a state of war.

If war actually does come, Canada no doubt will immediately be involved. In this good country we have living among us hundreds of thousands of families, men, women and children who have found here a peaceful living and happy homes, but who came, and some quite recently, from countries with which Canada may soon be at war. In times of war, in any country, the position of such people is always exceedingly difficult, but they themselves can make their situation much easier if they would be careful to refrain from discussing any political matters that might tend to cause resentment against them.
It will, of course, be merely an act of simple human decency and kindness for the rest of us to do our best to make the lot of these good Canadians of foreign extraction as easy as possible, by saying nothing, and by committing no action that will tend to embarrass them, or to make their existence any harder than need be; for when the war is over we shall all want to live once again, we hope, with each other as good friends and neighbours—in short, as Canadians.

Following factors have tended to raise prices: Nervous European political situation—Continued wet weather in France detrimental to wheat, barley and oats—Dry weather reduces Italian corn crop necessitating imports—Greece purchases Hungarian wheat—Much longer delays in Germany—British Government buying large quantities of Canadian wheat.

Following factors have tended to lower prices: Continued pressure of Argentine wheat for shipment—Abundant supplies of corn in the U.S.—Increased U.S. flour export subsidy rates—Offers of new corn from South Africa increase—U.S. Department of Agriculture increases wheat estimate from 717 to 731 million—Grain surpluses show improvement in Great Plains states.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

A LEMON A DAY

Scurvy was rampant in the Abyssinian army on the Somaliland front. This disease contributed materially to the defeat of the Ethiopians. Reports of foreign doctors in the Ethiopian Red Cross tell of 30,000 cases. There was no scurvy in the Italian army. What was the reason for this immunity? A small precaution: every soldier in Mussolini's army was given a lemon a day. Like the vaunted apple a lemon a day kept the doctor away.

Since the earliest times scurvy has frequently proved a scourge to explorers, to sailors, armies and to the civil population in areas where fresh food could not be had.

Scurvy is due to the diet being deficient in Vitamin C. The victim of this affection feels tired, has pains in the joints; the gums swell and bleed. Later on the skin becomes covered with petechiae which are small spots due to effusion of blood. Haemorrhage follows and the person can no longer work. In the case of the soldier he can no longer march. He is useless and an encumbrance.

The use of fresh vegetables and fruits prevents and cures scurvy. James Cook, one of the immortal explorers and sailors of Great Britain, was a pioneer among public health workers. He forced his crews at the rope's end to drink soup made from wild vegetables. He set them a good example by his personal use of raw fruits, wild celery and other green stuff found in his extensive travels.

Today the mother, zealous for the health of her baby, gives the infant orange and other fruit-juices for milk contains very little of Vitamin C. In consequence little is heard or seen of scurvy at the present time. It is one of the disappearing diseases.

Melbourne university in Australia believes it has the youngest university lecturer in the world, 19-year-old Zelman Cowen.

America Chooses Its Typical Small Home

Four to five rooms, American Colonial designs, safe roofs demanded

Courtesy Monthly Small House Club
Survey by famous architect reveals average price as $3,650

On the basis of a nationwide survey, Randolph Evans, famous architect, has planned for the Monthly Small House Club the home shown above. It represents a sample of the typical home favored by builders all over the United States. The house includes a kitchen, a living room, a dining room, including a large breakfast room, a bathroom, a bedroom, a two bed room and a closet. The kitchen is admirably arranged in the important matter of saving steps. The dining room is a roomy space needed by a small family save in the occasional emergency of several guests. As the house is planned, there is room for the heater on the floor level. However, the plan has been so drawn that a basement including a boiler-room, may be added for almost no additional cost.

A definite trend in today's home building, according to Mr. Evans, is the insistent demand of the home-owner for safety and comfort as well as attractive appearance. In the case of roofing on such a home as this, improvements in manufacture in recent years have made it possible to combine safety with extreme attractiveness, durability and economy in the mineral surfaced asphalt shingle roof. Such a roof, available either in strip shingles or the individual style, is recommended for protection against chimney sparks from your own or neighboring chimneys; for the handsome contrast in the color of your choice and for economy based on low purchase price, ease of application and long service.

These shingles are also being widely used on already-built houses where it becomes necessary to replace the old-fashioned roof, as well as on countless new homes, rural suburban and in large cities.

Real comfort for today's American family calls for property as well as attractive appearance. Piled home insulation, of white mineral wool is the most widely used and effective type. While such insulation is not apparent to the passerby, its effects are marked in the occupants, not only in the comfort of coolness in summer as warmth in winter but also in economy. Mineral wool insulation eliminates the "hard to heat" room's provides a liberal return on money invested by definite savings in fuel bills.

GIVE BIRDS
A BREAKWithin a short time Alberta nim-rods will be parading their season's bag, taking full advantage of the opening of the bird shooting and big game hunting seasons.A synopsis of regulations for the season was published in a recent issue.An examination of the synopsis showed that the seasons are open again this year for prairie chicken, ruffed grouse and Hungarian partridge. For the former two, the season was opened for the first time in 1938, after being closed for some years.While the season is open for these birds, hunters are urged to tempertheir sporting desires with every regard to reasonable preservation. If proper judgment is used, there is no reason why the season cannot be opened for a short period from year to year. But if the birds are slaughtered, then it means a setback which would take several closed seasons to offset, says the Voice of Motordom.
In other words, hunters while being enabled to take advantage of this most desirable sport, are urged to "give the birds a break," and remember that heavy bags will prove conducive to a scarcity that might again call for protective measures.
Alberta's hunting grounds are a valuable asset, drawing many visitors to this province while also providing splendid sport for residents. That being so, everyone should keep in mind the need of maintaining this asset.Good sport does not mean that the maximum bag limit must be attained.The DIAL REVIEW

Canadian Talent

The famous trade paper, "Variety," hails Percy Faith's weekly musical program as tops in radio fare. This magazine has a habit of saying exactly what it thinks, and bouquets are few and far between. However,
"Variety," one of "Variety's" critical reviewers, rates Percy Faith's Music as one of the best radio shows on the air. "Percy Faith's Music," a weekly CBC feature from Toronto, is related to CICA's audience every Wednesday night at 8:30. After one hear-see, you'll agree with "Variety's" Mr.
Lund that this young Canadian musician is a real boost to Canadian talent.

Sunday Listening

The opening feature on Sunday mornings, an international exchange program from the United States to the CBC, Walter Logan's Musicale, rates a few bouquets for the consistent high quality of the orchestration.
The 12:00 to 1:00 period, the Columbia Broadcasting System's Symphony Concerts conducted by Howard Barlowe, has proven to be a great favorite for Sunday listening.Another highlight in the Sunday schedule is the weekly "Diamond Drama" series, giving a complete story of the romance surrounding famous diamonds. This feature is heard every Sunday at 3:30.Last, but far from least, "Music From Manuscript," a CBC feature at 7:00 p.m., is a thoroughly enjoyable half hour. The vague blending of three girls' voices, with the masterly orchestrations, produces an effect rarely achieved on the air. One unconsciously wishes for more of the smooth harmony. Hata off, indeed, to "Music From Manuscript" Sundays
at 7:00.That's all for this time, everyone.
Thanks for your attention, and until next week—Good Listening and Good Harvesting. So long!

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks by Barbara Lynn

EYES RIGHT?
The contrast between dull, listless eyes and eyes that gladden life and sparkle, often marks the difference between a drab, uninteresting personality and a woman with glam-er. Didn't the poet call the eyes "the window of the soul"?Cleansing the eyes is the key to really interesting eyes. Use an eye-wash or a little boracic lotion regularly, and you'll be surprised how your eyes will become strengthened and refreshed.Rest them now and then, whatever you are doing. This relaxes the eye muscles and relieves strain. A really excellent method of resting the eyes is to lie down for a time, with pads of cotton-wool soaked in warm hazel spread over the eyes.Now for a little exercise that you can carry out at odd moments. Hang your head back and downwards. This is best done whilst reclining.What about those invidious little wrinkles that form around the eyes?
When massaging cream into your skin, avoid stretching the skin around the eyes. Pat lightly with a nourishing cream or warm olive oil.You can enhance the glamour of your eyes by using eye-shadow for nights and special occasions. Let your eye-shadow match your coloring and apply it delicately, darkest at the lashes and paling almost into nothing at the brows. In the daytime, smear a little vaseline on the upper lid and the eyesashes.Send for interesting new complete booklet on Beauty Care, and ask about your personal beauty worries, too, enclosing four one-cent stamps.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

"REMINISCENCES OF OTHER DAYS"

TEN YEARS AGO

Fire, which broke out in the rear of Hon Guey's restaurant in Chauvin destroyed several buildings before it was brought under control. The butcher shop, the building of which was owned by Mr. D. W. Parsons and under the management of Mr. Ed Gehring, was burned, as well as the Kelly Hardware store.

Prior to her departure to Lethbridge where she will make her home, Mrs. W. Robinson was honored at a social evening at the home of Mrs. H. Wade last week.

The property owned by Mr. H. MacDonald was sold last week to Mr. J. Farnsworth, the contractor.

While returning to their home north of town, Mrs. Harris and little daughter, Ethel, were thrown from the buggy in which they were riding when the horse became frightened and ran away. Mrs. Harris suffered a considerable number of cuts and bruises while Ethel was the victim of a fractured right leg.

Miss Ruth Arthur, of Aurburndale, and Miss Vera Stuart left at the week end to attend Normal school in Edmonton.

For a short holiday with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stintert left for Vancouver on Sunday.

EDGERTON

The world-shaking events of the past few weeks, culminating in England's declaration of war Sunday last, overshadowed mostly all other news, and finds us—in company with nearly all other citizens—decidedly unsettled, and not able to think of much else than the horrors which have already snuffed out the lives of thousands of innocent people, on land and sea.

However, life still goes on pretty much as usual in this (at present) peaceful spot of the Empire and some of the school children are over-joyed at the prospect of an extra week's vacation.

Owing to unforeseen delays it has been found impossible to finish the school schedule, but as far as can be ascertained, Monday, September 11th, is the date now set for opening.

Mrs. Lena Elton returned on Tuesday morning's flier from her month's holiday with relatives at Longview, Washington, and other points West. She reports having had a wonderful time, and feels greatly improved in health.

Joey Davidson spent the holiday week-end visiting her parents and friends here. Hardisty is all right, but the old Home Town can't be beat, can it, Joey?

Donna Elson, of McCafferty district, was brought to the doctor Wednesday last, after being thrown from a horse and suffering an arm injury. It was at first feared that her elbow was broken, but an X-ray taken at Wainwright fortunately proved there was no fracture.

It is understood that Leo Nelson is giving up his dairy business in favor of cattle-buying and as soon as arrangements can be made Ralph Challenger will take over the dairy, supplying both Leo's and his own customers.

Peter Milne is again a patient in the University hospital, Edmonton. Everyone hopes that this time a permanent cure will be effected, for he has surely endured more than his share of ill-health for the past 18 months.

"Bus" Milne is also under the doctor's care, but we understand that a few days' rest will soon have him back on his feet again.

There's a yarn going the rounds that our local postmaster is building a bomb-proof shelter, but upon questioning the gentleman we find that it is merely an ice-house for next summer's long cold drinks during the dog days.

Roy Evans was taken suddenly ill with acute appendicitis Friday afternoon whilst working at the school. Doctor Aylesworth was called and advised an immediate operation, so without delay, took his patient to the Wainwright hospital, where an emergency operation was performed. Latest reports from that institution indicate that Roy is resting comfortably.

We hear good news of Tom Chavasse, too, still a patient at Wainwright. He is stated to be really improving now, and making good progress in the business of getting well.

As this is beginning to look like a hospital register or something of the sort, we will wind up for this week, but not before mentioning our Editor, who is also sojourning awhile amidst the ministering angels of the nursing profession. We strongly suspect he is inwardly raging because he is out of action at such a time, and hope for his sake that he will soon be well enough to get back into harness again.

This week sees Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowen moving into their new home on Third avenue east.

Mrs. Freda Locke and little son left on Thursday for Maine, where they will reside.

Mr. W. Gano sold his residence on Second avenue to Mr. J. Hefferman.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

During the nasty windstorm of last Thursday, fire broke out in the home of Mr. Bob Reid, who resides north west of town. The house was completely destroyed but flames were prevented from spreading into other nearby buildings.

Miss Edith Evelyn Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowen, of Wainwright, and Mr. Eric Glenoe Knight, of Edmonton, were married on Thursday last at the home of the bride's parents on Fifth Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gano and family have moved to their farm, having rented their house in town.

Miss Lorraine Fraser has been added to the staff of the Bank of Montreal here.

Mr. A. Forbes, the new telephone trouble-shooter, moved to town during the week, and has taken up residence in the house recently vacated by Mr. Bert Ford.

Miss Evelyn Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Goddard, of Gilt Edge, became the bride of Mr. William Lagerquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lagerquist, also of Gilt Edge. The ceremony was performed on Monday in Edmonton.

The new school being erected by Mr. W. McKay, is practically completed and the necessary equipment will be moved in during the week.

While working on roads near his home, Mr. Jack Murray was unfortunate in spraining the ligaments of his leg. The accident occurred when he restrained his horses from bolting after the harness broke.

Mr. Williams, of Killam, the new barber at the Pastime Pool Room, has moved his family to town and rented the Gano house.

Mr. W. Goulet is suffering from an injury received when he ran a steel drill through his hand.

Hints for the Household

Conducted By Betty Barclay

Sea Dream Cheese Salad
1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup grated cucumber
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon scraped onion
Dash of cayenne
½ teaspoon salt
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
¾ cup sliced green pepper
1 cup diced celery

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cucumber, vinegar, onion, cayenne and salt. Force through sieve. Chill. When slightly thickened, add ½ to softened cream cheese. Fold in green pepper and celery, turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Fill molds with remaining thickened gelatin mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise, if desired. Serves 6.

Chocolate Mocha Frosting
2 tablespoons butter
2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ square unsweetened chocolate, melted

3 tablespoons strong coffee
Cream butter; add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add vanilla, salt, and chocolate and mix well. Add remaining sugar, alternately with coffee, until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition, until smooth. Make enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of 8x8x2 inch cake, or about 2 dozen cup cakes.

Peach Pie
Pastry
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup shortening
¾ tsp. salt
4-6 tbsp. cold water

Sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening, using a pastry blender or two knives, until the crumbs are about the size of beans. Sprinkle a little water over one portion and mix to dough. Add water to second portion. When all is blended, roll to ¼ inch thickness. This method prevents the addition of too much water.

Line a 9-inch plate and fill with sliced peaches. Add ¼ cup granulated sugar and 2 tbsp. quick tapioca. Dot with 2 tbsp. butter. Cover upper crust and bake in a very hot oven 30 minutes. Reduce heat and continue baking for 10 minutes.

Baked Peaches
Peel 6 large peaches and arrange in a casserole. If preferred, they may be halved and the stone removed. Sprinkle with ½ cup granulated sugar and pour ½ cup water over. Cover closely and bake ½ hour. Serve hot or cold.

Cherry Delight
11-13 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup cherry juice
1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
18 vanilla wafers

Cherries for garnishing
Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon and cherry juice. Stir until mixture thickens. Place in 6 sherbet glasses alternate layers of cherry mixture and crumbs, leaving topping of crumbs. Push 2 whole wafers into mixture around sides of each sherbet. Chill. Serves 6.

Maple Pudding
11-13 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
2-3 cup maple syrup
2 eggs, separated
½ cup pecan nut meats, chopped

Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk and maple syrup in a heavy saucepan. Bring to boil over low heat and boil, stirring constantly about 4 minutes until mixture thickens. Add egg yolks, slightly beaten, and cook 2 minutes longer. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Add chopped pecans. Pour into sherbet glasses. Garnish with whole pecans or whipped cream. Chill. Serves 6.

SOUFFLES THAT DON'T FLOP
There is one member of a luncheon party which should never sit down. It's very embarrassing to the hostess when her guests are seated at the table, to have the main dish—the soufflé—not only sit down but fall flat on its face. But as wise cooks know, this need never happen. So if in the past you have hesitated to make a soufflé because it might fail, try this delicious recipe and banish that bogey forever. The addition of quick-cooking tapioca to the soufflé will keep it high and handsome all the way through.

This salmon soufflé is ideal for a summer luncheon. It is easy to make and has a delightful flavor. A light salad and a simple dessert are suggested to complete the luncheon.

Salmon Soufflé
4½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon minced onion
1 cup milk

1½ cups minced salmon
3 egg yolks, beaten until thick
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup water and 2 bouillon cubes

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, salt, onion, milk and stock in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Add salmon. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour, or until firm. Serves 8.

By BETTY BARCLAY

Are you ever confronted with "milktime blues" so far as your children are concerned? The adults will eat what is placed before them, but children often have decided likes and dislikes—and many healthful foods they need, are among those they refuse.

Perhaps they even ignore milk. An eggless rennet-custard made without baking or boiling is an easily-prepared milk-containing dessert that will be relished by these little "problem" children of yours. Through it, healthful food will be served in a form that will please. Such a dish is economical and easy to digest. Try the dessert below—and see how much it is appreciated by the children.

Chocolate Delight

1 package chocolate rennet powder
1 pint milk (not evaporated or condensed)

4 or 5 marshmallows
Blackberry jam

Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, cut marshmallows in eighth from one side almost to the other. Open like a flower and place on top of each dessert. In the center of each flower put a teaspoon of blackberry jam.

MODERN WOMEN
CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

"If we are ever to make America a rich, vital and humane civilization, women will have to help and often take the lead," we are told by Stuart Chase. He also says that we must refuse to be diverted by high, misty principles. We must exert the practical humanitarianism that has given us more generously than he bestowed upon men. We must work with single-mindedness for those measures which promise to make thirty million homes comfortable, decent and secure places in which to live.

In Milburn, N. J., Miss Clare Hires is making plants grow in sealed bottles in a colorless jelly. She makes them grow better than they could possibly thrive in a greenhouse or garden. She gets practically 100% germination and has saved many rare plants from extinction. Harvard has a stock of her bottled specimens for study purposes. Miss Hires learned from Dr. Lewis Knudson at Cornell how to raise orchids in sterile glass containers. It took her four years to raise orchids in a perfect formula for growing plants in this way.

Dr. Lela E. Booher of the chemistry department of Columbia University, has succeeded in extracting highly concentrated form of vitamin H found in wheat, rice, polishings and in certain cereals. It is considered an important factor in the prevention of pellagra.

Mary Hoerger, aged eleven, is the youngest diving queen this country has ever had. She was trained by her mother. Her sisters are excellent swimmers, too. Mary won the title of national woman's living champion last summer.

Lute playing, which flourished in the Elizabethan days, has been revived by Suzanne Bloch who owns one of the five antique instruments in the world today which can be played on, and is the only lute player in America. She is a daughter of Ernest Bloch, composer-conductor, and herself appears on the concert stage.

HERE'S A QUICK CHICKEN DINNER

To serve Baked Spring Chicken, Potatoes Au Gratin, Green Beans and Strawberry Fluff for Sunday dinner, without staying home from church to prepare it, proceed as follows:

BAKED SPRING CHICKEN

(Serves 4 to 6)

2 broilers
¼ cup salad oil
1½ cups lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Split broilers and cut each half in 3 pieces (making 1 or 2 pieces per serving, depending on size). Place in bowl and cover with a mixture of all remaining ingredients. Chill for at least 4 hours. If kept in a modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator, which prevents exchanging of food flavors, the chicken may be prepared the day before.

STRAWBERRY FLUFF

Merely fold quartered marshmallows and sliced strawberries into whipped cream. File in sherbet and chill. Stored in the clean, unmodified air of a modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator—this dessert, too, may be made up a day in advance.

Homemakers' Exchange of Helpful Household Hints and Recipes

A baked custard pudding that is just as good several days later is made as follows:

Combine 1 cup chopped dates, 1 teaspoon soda and 1 cup boiling water. Cool. Measure, cream 1 cup butter, add 1 cup sugar slowly and beat well. Add 1 beaten egg, beat well and then blend in 1 cup flour, sifted with ½ teaspoon baking powder. Add 1 cup chopped nuts and the date mixture.

Beat well. Bake in buttered baking dish in a slow oven (300°) approximately 1 hour and 10 minutes. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 8.

It's most annoying to have one's best silk stockings snagged by rough edges on the legs of chairs and bridge tables. By coating all such edges with a little sticky mastic, you can stop these pesky snags right at the source.

Here is a delightful ice cream recipe that is fast and "Spring is here!" LEMON VELVET: Scald 2 cups milk and 2 cups coffee cream. Then add ½ cup sugar; stir until dissolved and cool. Add 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind and ¼ cup lemon juice. Fold in 1 stiffly-beaten egg white.

Four mixture into freezing container of modern ice cream freezer, filling it not more than ¾ full; assemble and cover. Surround with mixture of 3 parts crushed ice and 1 part rock salt. Freeze until turning becomes difficult, about 5 to 10 minutes. Then carefully remove cover, lift out dasher and pack ice cream down with a spoon. Replace cover, draw off excess water and replenish ice and salt mixture. Let stand at least 1 hour before serving. Serves 6 to 8.

You can bring order out of chaos in the family sewing box, with a few large safety pins. Put under wear buttons on one safety pin, dress buttons on another and hooks and eyes on a third.

One can't have too many luscious dessert recipes—particularly the kind that help use up leftovers! APRICOT TRIFLE: Scald 2 cups milk. Slowly add a mixture of 3 tablespoons sugar, a pinch of salt and 3 beaten egg yolks and blend thoroughly. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick; then remove from heat and cool.

Arrange thin slices of left-over sponge or angel food cake in bottom of shallow pan. Cover with 1 cup stewed apricots; then add the custard. Top with more thin slices of cake and place in modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator to chill for 3 or 4 hours. Just as the properly moist, clean-washed air of the new ice refrigerator will keep the left-over apricots and cake fresh and sweet for this dessert, so will it "keep" this finished dessert—for several days to come.

Forever straightening "tips" pictures can become a regular household chore! Here's something that will keep them on a straight and narrow.

Place a little strip of sandpaper, about 3 inches long and ¼ inch wide, on the lower edge of the picture frame. This grips the wallpaper and works like a charm.
